

Academic integrity and referencing

ANU Academic Skills

ENGN6250/COMP6250

SCENARIO 1

You notice that a question in one of your courses is just like one you wrote an answer for in another course last semester. Many of the sources that you used are relevant.

Is it okay to reuse your own work in a different course? Why/why not?

SCENARIO 2

Your lecturer allows collaboration on assignments and encourages study groups but still expects you to do your own work. You and two friends discuss the question and work through it together. It comes to the writing stage and one of your friends offers to share their assignment with you.

When does collaboration become collusion?

Our ideas are built on the ideas of others and becomes evidence for your essay!

Our ideas are supported by the ideas of others

The academic integrity principle

1. The academic integrity principle is the principle that a student's work is genuine and original, completed only with the assistance allowed according to the rules, policies and guidelines of the University.

2. In particular:

- a) the academic integrity principle requires the words, ideas, scholarship and intellectual property of others used in the work to be appropriately acknowledged; and
- b) a person is in breach of the academic integrity principle if the person engages in collusion.

From: ANU Academic Misconduct Rule 2015 (our emphasis)

plagiarism spectrum

Using a source too closely when paraphrasing

Copying work from a source without a citation Reusing work you have done for an earlier assignment

Working with other student/s to complete an individual task

Buying, stealing or borrowing other's work

DELIBERATE

Paying someone to do your work

Referencing incorrectly

FACT

Most breaches of academic integrity are unintentional

Key reasons for breaching:

- Didn't understand assessment
- Didn't know the rules
- Poor time management

Preventable!

Using and acknowledging sources:

is an essential requirement for all work at ANU allows readers to follow up on information distinguishes your ideas from other people's positions your work in a scholarly community

strengthens your arguments

Types of academic sources

- There are many different sources of information.
- The most common include:
 - Books or chapters in a book
 - Journal articles
 - Government reports
 - Newspaper articles
 - Some websites

Which are more academic? What makes them "academic"?

Which other sources are credible?

Find a source

- Google ANU Library
- In the SuperSearch bar, type the following search terms:

ethics artificial intelligence

- Go to Google Scholar an type the same search terms
- What did you find? How can you tell what type of source it is?

The Library has information on Finding sources

Evaluating sources

Referencing style

- Different styles are used at ANU
- Harvard is used in many disciplines
- You need to use a style guide which specifies
 exactly how to cite different sources
- We recommend the Monash Harvard referencing guide

Referencing has two parts

In the body of the writing (in-text citations)

The end of the work

According to Etzioni and Etzioni (2017, p. 407), if human behaviour is used to teach driveless cars, they are likely to pick up poor driving practices.

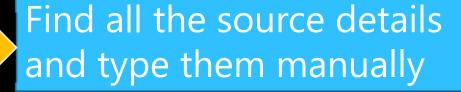

References

Etzioni, A. & Etzioni, O. 2017, "Incorporating Ethics into Artificial Intelligence", The Journal of Ethics, vol. 21, no. 4, pp. 403-418..

Howard, A. & Borenstein, J. 2019, "Trust and Bias in Robots", American Scientist, vol. 107, no. 2, pp. 86-89.

You need BOTH parts

Manual

Citation generator

Use a citation generator to get the source details and modify them manually

Referencing software

Use referencing software to manage your sources and all your citations

ALL methods require the use of a STYLE GUIDE to check your formatting

How to reference manually

Step 1: Identify the source

- Journal article
- Conference proceedings
- Book
- Website
- Report

Remember – sources that you find online might be any of the above

ANU Academic Skills

What type of source is this?

J Ethics (2017) 21:403–418 DOI 10.1007/s10892-017-9252-2

Incorporating Ethics into Artificial Intelligence

Amitai Etzioni¹ · Oren Etzioni²

Step 2: Look it up in the style guide

Harvard Contents

Books

Read how to cite and reference books in the Harvard style.

- Journals/Periodicals/Newspapers
 Read how to cite and reference periodicals/serials in the Harvard style.
- Websites
 Read how to cite and reference websites in the Harvard style.
- Social media
 Read how to cite and reference social media in the Harvard style.
- Government sources/industry reports
 Read how to cite and reference government sources in the Harvard style.
- Legal sources (including Treaties and United Nations Declarations)
 Read how to cite and reference legal sources in the Harvard style.
- Conferences
 Read how to cite and reference

Hai

. Z

Harva

Unlike

Manu Guide

In add

Featu

.

.

٠

Mona

Step 3: Work out what information you need

Print	Electronic
 One author Two authors Three authors Four or more authors No author Citing a source within a source Newspaper article Newspaper article, no author Newspaper article from a news service Magazine article Magazine article, no author Annual report, print 	 One author Two authors Three authors Four or more authors No author Article from a database Article with doi Citing a source within a source Newspaper article from a database Newspaper article Newspaper article, no author Article in an online newsletter Annual report

Step 3: Find all the relevant information

- Author/s name/s?
- Article title?
- Year?
- Title?
- Page numbers?
- What else?

The style guide will tell you what information you need

Step 4: Follow the format in the guide

Two authors Harkness, S & Evans, M 2011, 'The employment effects of recession on couples in the UK: women's and household employment prospects and partner's job loss', Journal of Social Policy, vol. 40, no. 4, pp. 675-693.

Author/s name/s

Year

Title of article

Etzioni, A & Etzioni, O 2017, 'Incorporating Ethics into Artificial Intelligence', The Journal of Ethics, vol. 21, no. 4, pp. 403-418.

Journal title

Volume

Issue

Page numbers

How to use citation generators

Step 1: Find the source

ANU Library SuperSearch

Incorporating Ethics into Artificial Intelligence

by Etzioni, Amitai; Etzioni, Oren

The Journal of Ethics, 12/2017, Volume 21, Issue 4

.... Ergo, there is little need to teach machines ethics even if this could be done in the first place. Finally, the article points out that it is a grievous error to draw on extreme outlier scenarios—such as the Trolley narratives—as a basis for conceptualizing the ethical issues at hand.

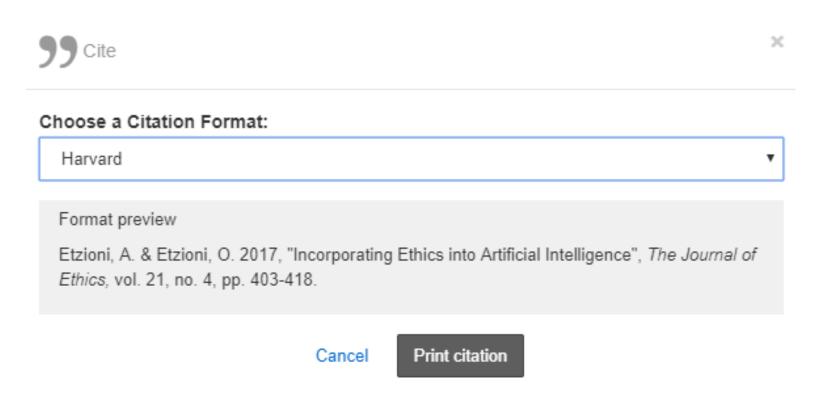

Journal Article: Full Text Online

Preview ▼ Cites / Cited by

Step 2: Use the citation generator

Step 3: Copy and paste

Etzioni, A. & Etzioni, O. 2017, "Incorporating Ethics into Artificial Intelligence", The Journal of Ethics, vol. 21, no. 4, pp. 403-418.

Can you spot any differences from our manual citation?

Step 4: Compare with style guide

- There may be errors or issues with the formatting and the data
- Use the information from the article to confirm the details
- Use the style guide to help you fix any errors

Step 5: Corrected citation

Etzioni, A & Etzioni, O 2017, 'Incorporating Ethics into Artificial Intelligence', The Journal of Ethics, vol. 21, no. 4, pp. 403-418.

How to automate referencing

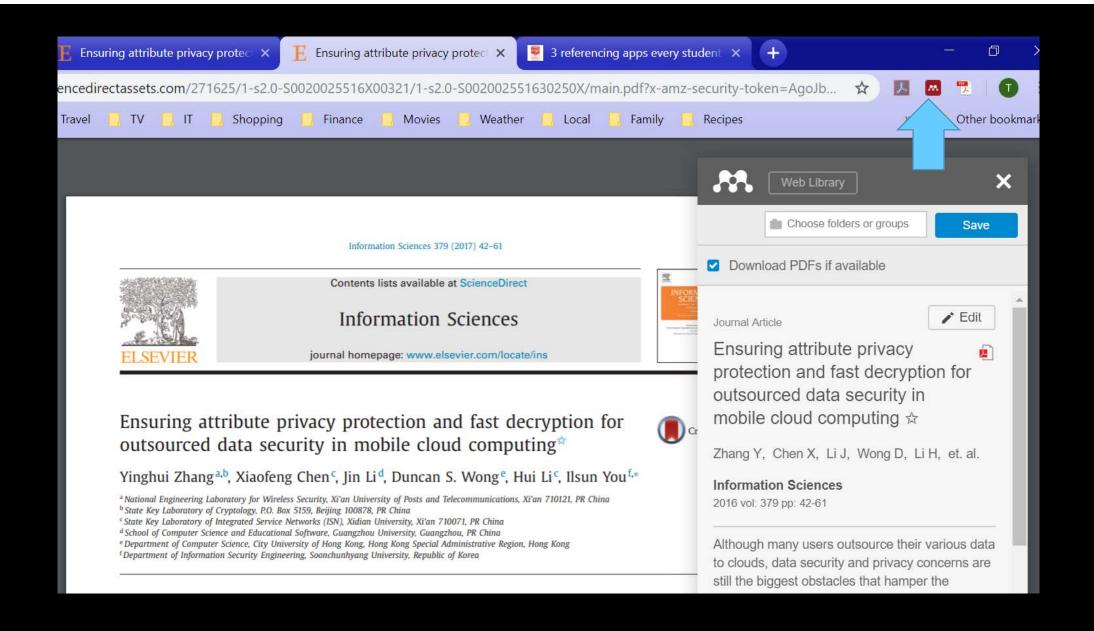

Tool	Advantages	Disadvantages
Endnote X9	Free for ANU students; the Library offers training, personalised support, and software updates.	Takes time to set up; can be initially complicated and confusing for new users.
Mendeley	Free, easy to use, integrates into Microsoft Word.	Takes time to set up; no training or support.
Zotero	Free, easy to use, integrates into Microsoft Word. Open source so has many add-ons.	Takes time to set up; no training or support.
Microsoft Word	Easy to use; Widely available.	Relatively inflexible; have to install extra styles.

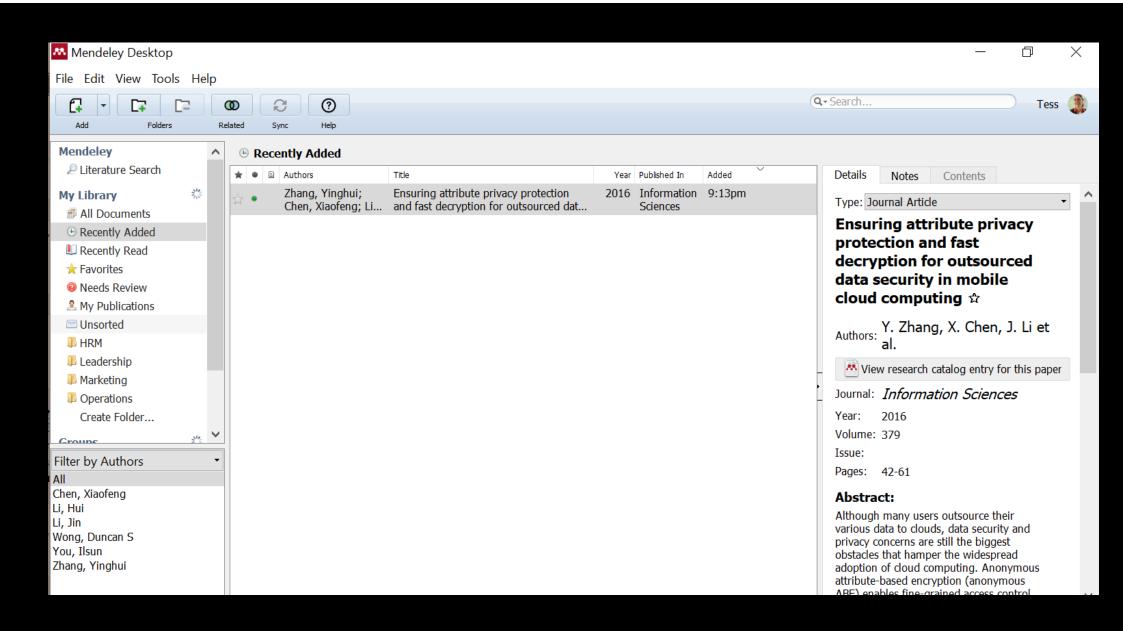

Referencing tools

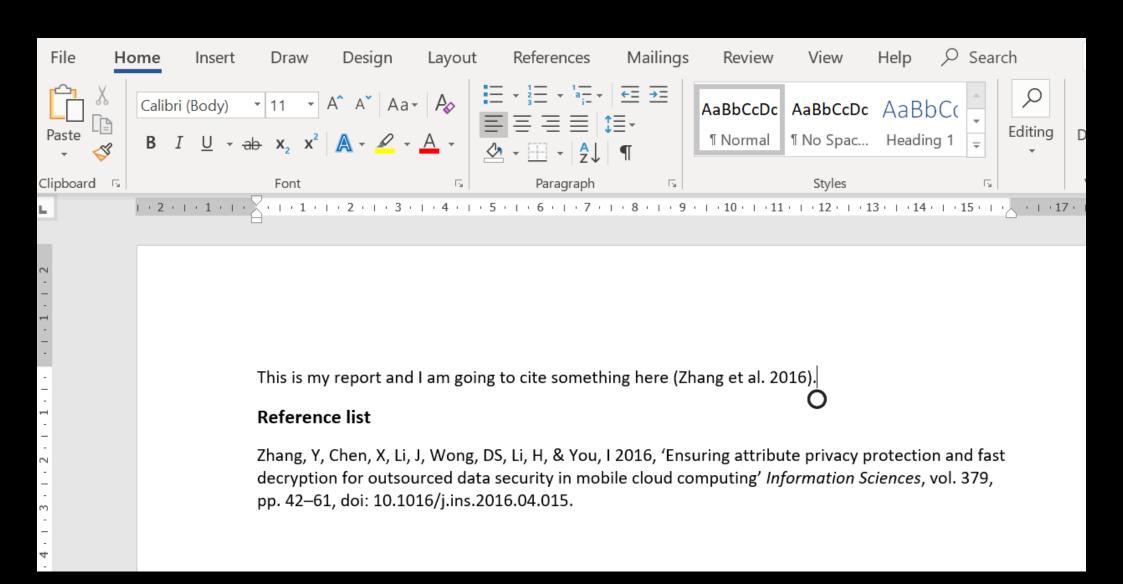

Include:

- 1. Browser extension to add the source as you search
- 2. Stand alone software to collect all your sources (database)
- 3. Software that integrates into Microsoft Word

Fully functioning information software

- Automatically record all the meta-data to use in your citations
- Enable you to store and organise all your pdfs in a Library
- Have access to hundreds of different style guides

Getting your own EndNote X9

- EndNote X9 software for Windows and Mac can be freely downloaded from the Library catalogue – search by keyword Endnote.
- Helpful online information guides can be found at: http://clarivate.libguides.com/endnote training
- You can register for the Library's EndNote X9 training at: http://anulib.anu.edu.au/training-register

Referencing

- Use the Referencing self assessment quiz to test your understanding academic integrity and referencing at ANU.
- Then work the Referencing lesson for step by step instructions on how to cite correctly

Prepare for the workshop (PPE1)

- Download the three articles
- Read the articles using reading strategies
- https://www.anu.edu.au/students/academicskills/study-skills/reading-strategies

ACADEMIC SKILLS WRITING CENTRE

PEER WRITERS

10-15 minute drop ins

WRITING COACHES

30 minute booked appointments

LEARNING ADVISERS

45 minute booked appointments

LET'S SPEAK ENGLISH!

Join fun conversation groups, make new friends and meet local students! All ANU students welcome.

Weeks 1-12

Marie Reay Teaching

Centre

1-2pm Mon-Fri Room 5.02

5-6pm Mon Room 5.05

anu.edu.au/english

